Back to School

The MCC community returns for another year.

☞ Sore backs and smiling faces were common as parents, siblings, old friends, and new acquaintances helped each other move into new living quarters.

☞ Freshmen received their first taste of college life through orientation groups led by upper-classmen. During sessions, many mixer games and group activities were planned to help everyone feel comfortable and more informed.

☞ Students joined with faculty and staff to work on various service projects around the community such as digging up potatoes for the Flint Hills Bread Basket.

☞ Perhaps the most exciting, yet most dreaded time for students was finalizing their enrollment. With forms filled out, schedules in place, and ID photos taken, the only thing left to do was to write the big check.

Time to Party

The Barn Party: # 1 Fall Event

☞ The Barn Party is held at Judd and Nancy Swihart's big spacious barn. The Swiharts lend their barn for many activities at MCC.

☞ The Barn Party is held annually in the fall near Halloween. This gives students the opportunity to dress up in an array of costumes.

☞ Activities at the party include: dancing, a belching contest, karaoke, and the Vienna sausage toss.

Family Weekend

Families join MCC supporters in celebration.

☞ At the President's Appreciation Banquet families, supporters, students, and alumni came together for one giant time of fellowship. They praised God, met the professors and staff members, and heard performances by musical groups. Student speakers gave testimonies, and President Cable expressed words of appreciation.

☞ The eleventh annual Family Weekend, October 8th and 9th, offered a special time of fellowship and fun for MCC students and their families. Family members had the opportunity to visit classes, watch the soccer team in action, enjoy a banquet, eat brunch together, and attend an ice cream social.

■ I'VE LEARNED TO TRUST GOD.

Speak Up

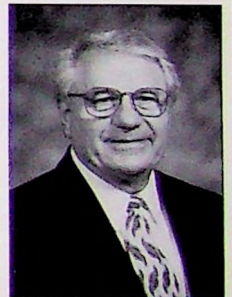

"Family Weekend is a great opportunity to spend time with my younger sisters. My family and I enjoyed visiting with the professors at the banquet."

Susan Kirby

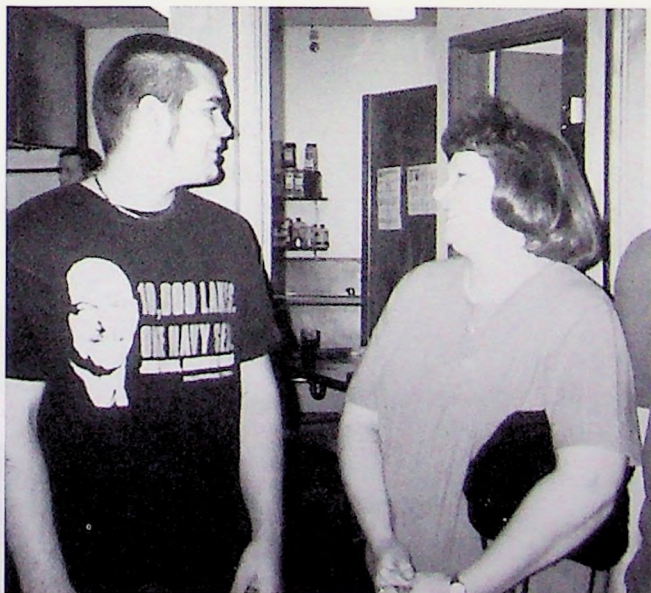

"We hold the Appreciation Banquet because we think it is important to thank our donors whose partnership is so important to the ongoing ministry of MCC."

President Cable

"I wish my family could have come to see what life is like for me. Then they could better understand what I am talking about when we visit on the phone."

KERUSSO DAYZ

Proclaiming God's Love in Actions.

✎ This was the first year for Kerusso Dayz and hopefully it will become an annual event. It was organized by Student Council.

✎ Kerusso Dayz, held on October 29-31, 1999, involved students, faculty, and staff. Groups went to St. Louis, MO, Wichita, KS, Perry, KS, Kansas City, MO, Kansas, OK. They did everything from planning youth activities to cleaning to outside work.

✎ The main focus was to serve others and proclaim God's love. This was also a way for students and faculty to get to know each other.

✎ Kerusso Dayz put the Great Commission in action: "Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything that I have commanded you." Matthew 28:19-20

A Season of Joy

Christmas: a time of reflection and celebration

☞ Students, faculty, and staff gathered for an evening of food, friends, and reflection at the annual Christmas banquet organized by Student Council.

☞ Though they often welcomed students into their homes, the faculty and staff went to great lengths to show off their homes and families for a special Christmas open house. Afterwards, a tree trimming party was held in the campus center.

☞ With a goal of focusing on the great gift of Christmas, the music ensembles put together a special vespers worship service at First Lutheran Church in Manhattan.

☞ One of Manhattan's most popular seasonal activities, Bethlehem Revisited, was held at the Swihart farm. The MCC community joined with Grace Baptist Church and Wellspring to give visitors a glimpse of the events that make Christmas such a joyous and important event.

Speak Up

"The eternal essence of God's work in Bethlehem Revisited as He anoints our imaginations and brings truth and reality to our meager effort is what makes it worth considering one more time."

Nancy Swihart

"I liked what Mr. Delort had to say [at the Christmas Banquet]. It was a great speech to close 1999."

Anthony

The Best of Times

Students look for ways to have good, clean fun.

☞ In hopes of providing something for students to do on the weekends, several parties were organized by the Student Activities Committee, including an early New Year's Eve party and a Hawaiian Luau.

☞ Other groups also sponsored parties and special events such as a dance after the Spring Banquet. Attendees were able to relieve stress and have fun being themselves.

☞ Eat at Joe's, a band that started at MCC, provided music for the New Year's Eve party, and other students joined in for some very unique entertainment.

☞ On any given weekend, a walk through the dorms, or a survey of upperclassmen, would reveal many spontaneous parties providing the core of entertainment for students. Whether it was a movie or just a chance to laugh together, there was never a lack of good times.

Hey, baby, what's your season?

Woman's World takes a look at growing faith.

✎ The theme of this year's conference was "Seasons of Faith." A tree shows promise in the spring, exhibits new growth in the summer, yields harvest in the fall, and gathers strength for the new season in winter. Our faith goes through a similar cycle of growth. Four speakers invited attendees to assess their faith season and prepare for future growth.

✎ A "seasons of faith" quilt was lovingly constructed by Joann Wilson and donated to be sold in a silent auction. After much bidding over the two-day event, $680 went to the scholarship fund.

✎ An offering was taken during the last session to provide scholarships for MCC women who have demonstrated Christian leadership, spiritual growth, academic standing, and financial need.

■ NOW ISN'T THAT SPECIAL!

Gladys Frump, the alter-ego of key-note speaker Julie Gariss, reminding many of the Church Lady from Saturday Night Live, uses humor to drive her point home. Photo: Boutz

■ VOICES LIFTED IN PRAISE

Praising God through familiar hymns and choruses with 500 other women is a highlight for many, including Amber Sumner and her mother. Photo: Boutz

Speak Up

"Serving on the Woman's World committee is a lot of work, but when you hear women testify about the retreat's impact on their lives, it is worth all the work. I am glad I can be a small part of it."

Lauren Heskett

"Woman's World was more than a good conference. I was able to attend seminars with my mother and grandmother who came from Texas. We are planning to make it an annual tradition."

Ashlee Liddell

"The best part of Woman's World for me was the chance to catch up with ladies from my home church that I hadn't talked with in years."

How to Host a Banquet

Many go all out for Spring Banquet.

✎ In keeping with a long tradition, a STUCO committee of freshmen and juniors organized the Spring Banquet held at the Kansas State University Student Union Ball Room in early May. Many students, faculty, and other guests attended.

✎ A key part of the evening was playing a unique party game called "How to Host a Murder" where participants became suspects in a 1920's mob attack and each table group had to figure out who was innocent and who was guilty.

✎ A slide show set to various popular songs was presented in an effort to summarize the year and remember earlier good times. During the presentation the whole room was filled with laughs and sighs from the flood of memories.

✎ Following the formal dinner, a dance was held at the Campus Center where students were able to work off their dinner with some high energy good times.

Skip Day gives everyone a chance to relax.

✎ Classes were canceled on Thursday, April 27, for Skip Day. This day of fun and all-school activities was organized by the Student Activities Committee.

✎ Many activities were planned for the day including an outdoor chapel service; softball, basketball, and volleyball tournaments; and two all-school picnics that were free of charge.

✎ Though it was a bit windy, the weather was beautiful. This encouraged many to relax outdoors and enjoy God's creation with friends.

✎ As a wrap up to the Great Tuna Trade-off held to benefit the Flint Hills Bread Basket, John Poulson, Rick Wright, and Shawn Condra received pies in their faces while Dr. Wes Paddock, Pete Smith, and President Cable were targets for water balloons purchased with cans of tuna.

with itty bitty living space.

☺ All freshmen girls lived in Kenoyer Hall, 1442 Fairchild Ave. Since there was such a large number of freshmen girls, only sophomores who were Resident Assistants or Resident Assistants' roommates stayed in Kenoyer Hall.

☺ Sophomore girls lived in Rebekah House, 1437 Laramie or Phoebe House, 1441 Laramie.

☺ Upper classmen girls lived in apartments or houses nearby. Some of these buildings are also owned by Manhattan Christian College.

☺ Dorm life and sharing an apartment or house were great ways to develop close relationships with other Christian females.

From Boys to Men

Men's housing helps train future leaders.

☞ Freshmen and Sophomore men all lived in Johnson Hall under the supervision of Scott McFall.

☞ Upperclassmen had no official dormitory; however, they often gathered together in apartments on and off campus.

☞ In Johnson Hall each floor had a distinct reputation. For example, the third floor-south men created t-shirts, calendars, and CD's and were known for their large computer network.

☞ Relationships built among men in the various places they inhabited will be cherished for many years to come.

Serving Others

Students learn through service.

■ GENERATIONS TOGETHER

Many students participate in a weekly worship service at a local nursing home. Here, ministry takes place not only as a group, but also one-on-one as students take time to build relationships with those in the home. Christian service activities provide students a way to put their ministry skills into practice all over the community.

"I liked coming back to MCC from leading chapel at Flint Hills Christian School feeling refreshed. I totally saw what it is like to have faith like a child."

■ COMFORT ON A BUS

Finding a comfortable position in which one could spend hours on the bus was not an easy feat, but Anna Boyd seems to have found a good one.

Making Room for Better Things

It was not working as housing for students! The house at 1409 Laramie just needed too many major repairs. Such repairs would not be wise for a house that will one day be removed to make room for the gymnasium. The best solution seemed to be its demolition to provide a small parking lot. Late July and early August found many people watching the men in "space suits" remove asbestos materials, and then large machinery demolish the house. Photo: Rebekah Wright

More Parking Available

At the beginning of the year MCC students felt like adventurers searching for treasure many mornings when they arrived at the campus for classes. With enrollment at an all-time high, parking spaces in the parking lot were at a premium, and street parking was always claimed by 7:30 by KSU employees. With the removal of the 1409 house, its lot was turned into a gravel parking area. Photo: Rebekah Wright

New Home Beside Admissions House

The purchase of the house at 1413 recently made it possible to remodel it to provide a home for student development services. When students enter the house, they are greeted by Patty Griswald; they then can relax in the bookshelf-lined living room or go upstairs to the office of Rick Wright, Lisa Smith, or Scott McFall. Photo: Beddow

6 Ways MCC Is Growing

Ditto for Maintenance Department!

"Where can we store these tables and chairs that we aren't using?" Such questions have haunted the maintenance department for years. The basement of the Coffin Campus Center is not big enough to meet the department's needs, let alone provide storage. That is why a maintenance building was made part of the Standing Faithful Campaign. It is actually the first stage of construction so that it will be available for storage during Jolliffe Hall remodeling. Photos: Beddow

"I can't remember a project on our campus that has received more public support from the Manhattan community."

Campus Gains a Gateway

Heritage Court--located between Jolliffe Hall and J. Donald Coffin Memorial Hall--will feature a six-foot granite monolith of the ten commandments, which the Manhattan City Commission voted to remove from City Hall a year ago. A beautiful gift from the Fraternal Order of Eagles, the monolith will set the tone for the new entryway to the campus.

"When the monolith became available, we wanted to do more than just place the ten commandments on our campus. Heritage Court has allowed new signage for the college, one of the priorities in the Standing Faithful Campaign, to become a reality, said president Kenneth Cable.

"I can't remember a project on our campus that has received more public support from the Manhattan community than Heritage Court. Many individuals, churches, organizations, and alumni have joined together and partnered with us to underwrite all of the construction expenses." Photos: Beddow, Bjork, Studebaker

Four Eagles members who attended the groundbreaking hold the architect's drawings of the court; Chris Taylor, Stuco president was one of the dignitaries who broke ground; Terry Pritchett examines the progress of the project.

College Credibility Enhanced With NCA Accreditation

February 2, 2000 was an exciting day on campus as word spread that MCC is accredited by the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

MCC has been accredited by the Accrediting Association of Bible Colleges since 1949. Unfortunately, AABC accreditation is not recognized by all colleges and universities.

Achieving regional accreditation means that MCC meets the standards for providing quality education and is committed to continued improvement.

The accreditation process took several years as site teams and committees assessed our academic programs, finances, facilities, board of trustees, admissions and student services, institutional resources, and the size and faithfulness of the college's support base.

During the final site visit, team members were favorably impressed with the participation of the student body.

6 Ways MCC Is Growing

Enrollment Grows

AABC Enrollment Growth Award

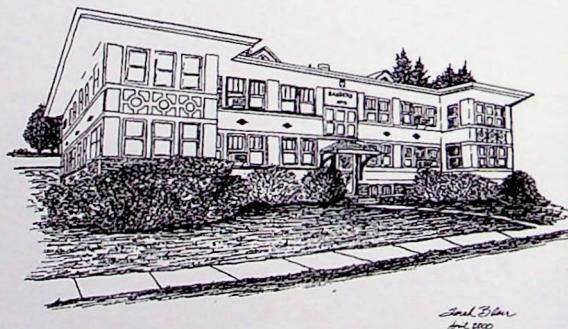

For our record growth in enrollment during the 1998-99 year, MCC was awarded the Enrollment Growth Award for colleges in the 200-399 full-time equivalent student enrollment category. The award, sponsored by Christianity Today, Inc. and the Accrediting Association of Bible Colleges, is made by the Accrediting Association of Bible Colleges.

Congratulations, Admissions Department!

The Challenge: Too Many Women for Kenoyer Hall

As the beginning of the school year approached, student development personnel worked hard to find housing for all the incoming freshman and returning sophomore women. Three women were assigned to the large corner rooms of Kenoyer Hall and sophomores were placed in Rebekah House. Resident Assistants and their roommates were the only sophomore women in the residence hall.

Part of a Solution: Sanders Apartments

Additional student housing became available during the year. Bill and Pat Sanders, long-time members of First Christian Church in Protection, Kansas, established a charitable remainder unitrust that purchased the Paddleford Apartments. The unitrust provides a lifetime of income for the Sanders, and upon their deaths the apartments become the property of MCC.

REUNION CONCERT
Friday, May 5, 2006
All Faiths Chapel
7:00 p.m.

Director of Alumni and Church Relations, Kevin Ingram, is developing several avenues for maintaining relationships with alumni and serving the area churches.

A letter writing program invites class representatives to correspond with fellow alumni twice a year. An e-mail network allows alumni to receive updates from Kevin and keep in touch with one another.

A series of one-day seminars for those actively involved in local church ministry gives church leaders a chance to learn from one another's experiences while spending time on campus. The first seminar was held on the day that students chose as Skip Day. Attendees enjoyed an outdoor chapel service and some of the day's festivities.

On May 4th and 5th MCC students saw new faces on campus as almost 40 alumni from 10 states came to practice, relive performances, and fellowship together. The Music Department had invited these alumni who had been members of Celebration Singers and/or Inspiration Ringers.

The reunion culminated with the alumni choirs joining this year's music ensembles for a joint concert in All Faiths Chapel on the campus of KSU. The selections included variations of the hymn tune, Verses for Hyfrodol, arranged by Dr. Ian Coleman specifically for the reunion.

Students

These are the people you see every-day--in the classroom, in your D-groups and F.A.S.T. groups, in the dorms, at chapel, and all around campus. If you've ever wondered what their names are, now's your chance to find out! Here are your fellow students . . .

Who has been your favorite teacher and why?

I like Thornley because he has a passion and it shows in his life.

When Caulley says something funny and no one laughs, he blinks his eyes, looks around and says, "That was supposed to be funny."

There's no way for me to choose among all the wonderful teachers who give their lives to help us grow.

What was your favorite way to spend your free time this year and why?

I like to go to the Rec to stay in shape and relieve stress.

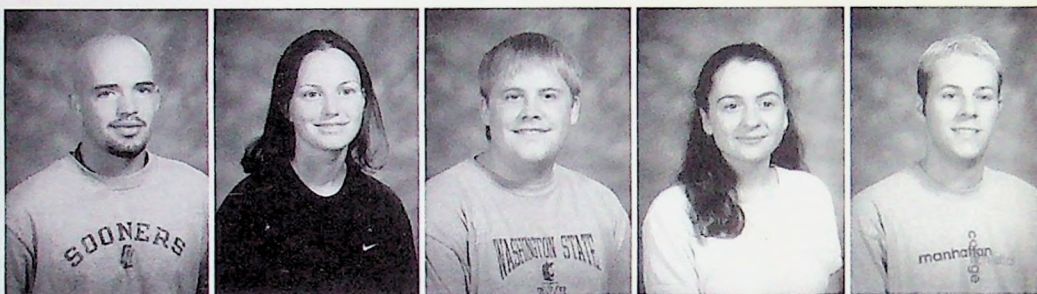

My favorite way to spend free time is with my friends. We loved getting to know lots of new people.

I like to spend time outside playing football, volleyball, sleeping, and playing pranks.

Which restaurant/fast food place in Manhattan is the best place to eat? Why?

Pizza Shuttle-- need you ask why?!?

Goodcents because it's cheap and has big sandwiches.

Bob's Diner would be my favorite because it is quiet and the food is good. It isn't expensive and the people are friendly.

Start of a Legacy

In its first year ever, the Women's Soccer team laid a foundation for the future.

■ IT TAKES A TEAM

With Constance Pearce leading the way, Jennifer Cannon, Tara Spencer, Susan Hurst, and Lora Hayes play as a team for maximum impact. Though it was the first year for women's soccer at MCC, nothing kept the team from growing together and showing the world that women's soccer is a force to be reckoned with.

■ FUN OFF THE FIELD

Often the relationships made off the field are more memorable than the plays on it. This is demonstrated by Amber Sumner, Constance Pearce, Jessica Wilhelm, Jennifer Cannon, and Burgandi Leyba as they share some laughs after a roadgame. Loyal fans Meghan Hughes, Anna Seehorn, and Jeni Thornton, share in the excitement by making signs and cheering on their friends.

■ GIVE IT EVERYTHING!

Racing down the field, Tara Crotts works hard for a turnover against the CCC tigers.

■ FANCY FOOTWORK

Though it looks like a classic disco move, Susan Hurst is really using her fancy foot work to try to steal the ball from the opposing team.

■ WIDE OPEN FIELD!

One Wild Year

In a year full of adversity, the Crusaders persevered and gave the glory to God.

■ SMILE FOR THE CAMERA.

After placing third at the conference tournament, team members pose together with their trophy.

■ IT'S ABOUT TEAM WORK.

Behind the three point line, Ben White looks for a team mate or a chance to shoot.

■ MEXICAN MUD WRESTLING

Here I come to save the day! While relaxing at a ranch during the Outreach Committee's Mexico trip, Anthony Inchaustegui tackles Brad Lenhardt who has pinned down Chris Ensley in a giant mud puddle. Photo: Johnson

■ PLAY BALL!

The competition is always keen in intramural softball games. Shawn Condra umpires while Katie Prebble catches and Eric Dannefer prepares to hit the ball out of the field. Photo: Gina Aufdengarten

■ WHAT DO YOU THINK, UMP?

Only the umpire, Shawn Condra, can make some decisions so Julie Ehmke waits patiently. Photo: Gina Aufdengarten

■ ARE YOU UP FOR A GAME?

No matter what time of day a person walks by the slab, a basketball game will usually be in progress. This one finds Cody Courter, Jeremiah Diamond, Nathan Burton, Darren Glandt, Matt Barnes, Ben Lister, Mike Carroll, and Bill Furuya in hot competition.

Recreation is not limited to group sports. An individual or two people can enjoy a break. Heather Malloy tosses a ball; Noah Smith plays Fozz Ball; Angie Harris and Linda Sacks shoot pool. Photos: Boutz, Seacat, Studebaker.

Rebuild- ing the Body

Recreation, in any form, refreshes and strengthens the physical body.

■ SERVE IT UP!

The volleyball court provides an opportunity for people to get a good workout while enjoying the fellowship of other students. Meghan Hughes, Annie Stutzman, and Dustin Tappan are putting all they have into this game.

■ GIVE HIM ALL YOU'VE GOT!

Intensely praising, Nick Pannone and Shon Daniels pour out their hearts during chapel. Photo: Bjork

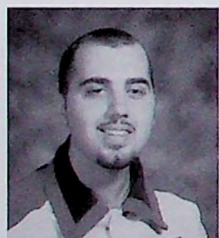

Chapel

Students come together to worship.

"I love chapel. I need it twice a week. If I miss it I feel as if I am lacking spiritually."

-Burgandi
Leyba

"Being together as one body."

-Andrew
Medlen

Q: What do you like best about chapel?

"I like how we can unite as a student body. I also like the speaker David Castleberry."

-Constance
Pearce

"I like to run the sound board in the back because I feel a part of things."

-Nathan
Fiedler

■ PRAISING HIM.

Dorm Devotions

A needed "timeout" from busy lives

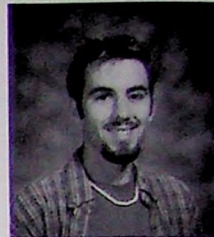

"It's the one time all the girls are together to worship. That's the awesome part, it's girls bonding time."

- Jordanne Bonfield

"I liked the worship a lot. The fellowship and the worship with my sisters in Christ were unforgettable."

- Angie Harris

Q: What impacted you the most during dorm devotions?

"I really liked the prayer requests because it felt as if the guys really took interest in one another, a real brotherhood."

- Miguel Caraballo

"Worship time for dorm devos was awesome."

- Josh Hatton

■ GETTING THE GOOD SEATS

Ralene Lonas and Kylie Weirich enjoy their good seats (i.e. actual chairs) in the Kenoyer Hall lobby. Photo: Studebaker

■ BOYS WILL BE BOYS

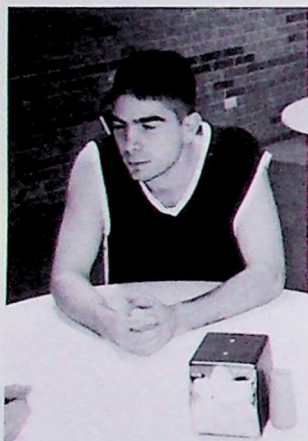

Shon Daniels and Kelly Reimer goof off before devos while Nathan Fiedler stays out of the way. Shelby Crawford and Nick Pannone are caught up in their own conversation. Photo: Boutz

■ MERRY CHRISTMAS!

■ GETTING CLOSER

Danielle John, Natalie Studebaker, Robyn Ward, Natalie Harvey, and Teresa Moyer get to know one another better through the D-group meetings, especially when they all cram onto the same couch.

■ DEEP IN THOUGHT

■ LATE NIGHT RETREAT

Special events are an important part of being in a Discipleship Group. Here, several groups have joined together for a late night trip into the woods for some praise and worship. Photo: Boutz

■ STUDY BREAK!

■ PERHAPS TOO SERIOUS?

Never hesitating to preach from the word, Joe Jensen shares what is on his heart with his D-Group. Photo: Boutz

D-Groups & FAST Groups

Discipleship occurs in small groups.

"I like to be with my FAST group. I like to talk about God and let them ask the tough questions."

- Rick Wright

Q: What is your favorite aspect of leading a D-Group or FAST group?

"My favorite thing about D-Group is bonding with new students."

- Tricia Traub

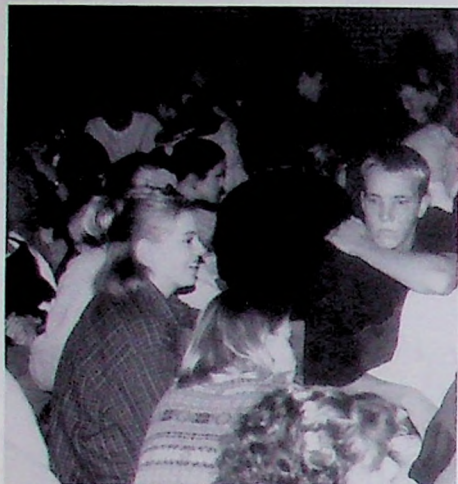

■ LAUGHING WITH FRIENDS

Though FAST groups and D-Groups are intended to be a time of prayer, Bible study, and encouragement, Mandi Bowden and Jennifer Beckman learn this often leads to just plain fun. Photo: Studebaker

Student Spiritual Life and Encouragement Committee & Student Activity Committee

STUCO strives to make the year great.

■ PRAYER AT THE BARN

Early in the year, Student Spiritual Life and Encouragement Committee held an evening of prayer and worship at the Swihart barn that much of the school body attended. Photo: Studebaker

"Over several years STUCO has provided me with an opportunity to join my passion for people with my leadership skills."

- Kendra Hinkle

Q: Why did you get involved with Student Spiritual Life Committee or Student Activities Committee?

"I wanted to get involved with planning some of the activities that we do here because I enjoy helping out with some of the activities."

- Cristy Fenton

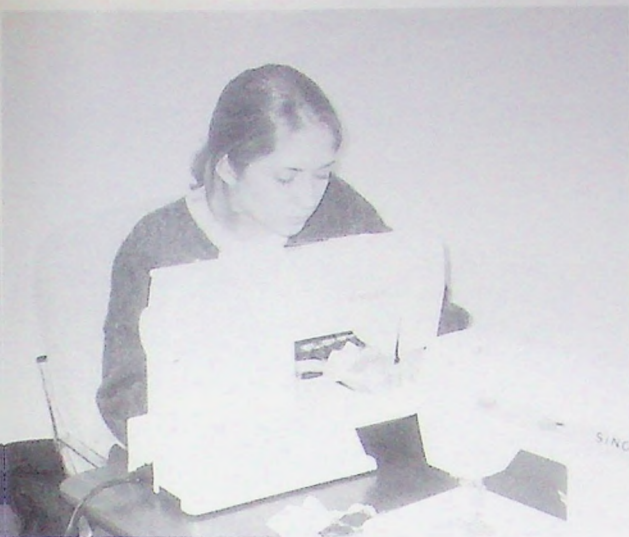

■ LET ME AT THEM!

At the Skip Day softball tournament, Jeremiah Diamond, Tricia Traub, and Jason Anderson stand ready to bat. SAC was responsible for all of the Skip Day activities. Photo: Nathan King

■ LAUGHTER RELIEVES STRESS

SAC planned a humorous talent show to kick off Skip Day. These students are having a great time laughing at those brave enough to display their "talents." Photo: Boutz

■ CRAFTY ENCOURAGEMENT

Chairman of the Student Spiritual Life and Encouragement Committee, Kendra Hinkle, sews a large pillow to be given to a faculty or staff member. Photo: Johnson

■ SMILES HAWAIIAN STYLE

Displaying intense enthusiasm, Darcy Jeanneret jokes with friends at the Hawaiian Luau. Several parties were held throughout the year to provide students with activities during the weekends. Photo: Bjork

■ LENDING A HELPING HAND

Joshua Hatton measures out fabric to help SSLEC members with one of their many encouragement projects. During the year the committee made cards for students, treats for traveling groups, and other such encouraging gifts to help students stay upbeat and positive. Photo: Bjork

■ PRAISE AND WORSHIP

During an all-school praise and worship time organized by SSLEC, Cathy Oetinger, Jimmy Taylor, and Altair Fatton take a break from everyday activity and worship their Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

■ HANDS-ON MINISTRY

Andrea Harris, Jennifer Beckman, Dawn Weldon, Jaime Mohler, Melissa Arnold, Shelby Wertz, and Christy Lampe sing hymns at a nursing home as part of the Community Service Committee of Student Council.

■ QUIET TIME

Though her arms are tired, Mandy Jaggard continues holding a young Mexican boy who has found a comfortable place to rest. Photo: Melissa Johnson

Community Service & Outreach Committees work hard to make a difference

"My favorite part of chairing the Community Service Committee is the nursing home ministry. The people appreciate it so much when we come and sing, even though we aren't too good. I pray that we were as much of a blessing to them as they were to us."

-Courtney Hughes

"The best part of the Mexico trip was spending time with the Mexican kids in the detention center, at the church, and out at the ranch. The people are so open and loving, and the food was incredible! The entire trip was just awesome."

- Jaime Mohler

Q: What about your work with these committees will you remember most?

"The trip to Mexico was amazing. God blessed us with safety, new friendships, and, overall, a great opportunity to serve and be served. I'm so glad I was able to go!"

- Melissa Johnson

"I was blessed beyond measure to see the fruits of all the efforts as a group. Members grew and were challenged all week. Also, the blessing we were to the people made all the stress and craziness seem like nothing compared to the worth of it all."

- Mandy Jaggard

■ SHARING THROUGH ART

In an effort to make the children's section of the church building a little cheerier Amber Puckett, Kim Rogers, Jennifer Beckman, and Melissa Johnson create a mural showing a variety of God's creation.

■ SHARING THROUGH MUSIC

Relaxing between activities, Jason Jaggard and Anthony Inchaustegui practice a praise chorus on a guitar. During the trip much time was spent sharing music with the people of the church.

■ IN THE HEART OF SALTILLO

Situated just a few blocks from the center of town, the Fraternidad Cristiana (Fellowship of Christians) ministers to people in all walks of life in the city through a variety of ministries and community programs. MCC students contribute in many ways to all those ministries. Photo: Melissa Johnson

■ IT TAKES YEARS OF PRACTICE

Learning from the best, Ryan Oldham observes a game of solitaire while building a relationship with a nursing home resident.

The Community Service Committee helped put on several all-school community work days, including the one at the beginning of the year. Here Ashlee Liddell, Rachel Burrows, and Abby Spence clean a cabin at the Swihart Farm used for personal retreats sponsored by Wellspring Ministries. Photo: Kevin Meyers

■ COMMUNICATION IS VITAL

In order to encourage communication between administration and students, Student Council held an open forum where Dr. Watt and all the other administrators responded to the concerns and questions of students. Photo: Boutz

■ A CHANCE TO KICK BACK

■ OFFICERS ON DECK!

Student Council officers provide leadership not only for the organization, but also for the entire school. Here Kylie Weirich, Treasurer; Chris Herrington, Vice President; Chris Taylor, President; and Harmony Longenecker, Secretary, guide the last meeting of the year held in the Student Development House. Also pictured are Lisa Smith, Amy Burns, and Jason Jaggard. Photos: Boutz

■ LEADERSHIP IS A BIG JOB.

Paying close attention to the details of the meeting, Student Council members Robyn Ward, Michelle Farag, Ila Mawhirter, Kendra Hinkle, Sarah McCool, Mandy Jaggard, and Brad Lenhardt make note of the various upcoming activities. Photo: Boutz

■ SERVING OTHERS TOGETHER

For the first time ever, STUCO organized Kerruso Dayz where students served others all over the region, including a Halloween alternative in downtown Kansas City.

Student Council

Students working for students

Q: In what ways has Student Council helped you?

"I decided to get involved and develop my leadership skills while casting vision and watching God move through those visions."

- Chris Taylor,
President

"By participating in STUCO I was able to give my input on many important issues. It was a great way to develop leadership skills while observing others lead."

- Bryan Boutz

■ PRAYING, PLAYING, AND SERVING

Student Council exists to represent the student body in every part of life at MCC. From recreation and Christian service to institutional advancement STUCO provides the leadership and organization to help make this school the best it can be. Photo: Boutz

■ A CHEERFUL GIVER

Helping the STUCO effort to encourage faculty and staff, Tricia Traub puts the finishing touches on a large pillow to be presented later in the week. Photo: Johnson

■ WORKING TOGETHER

It takes a team to carry out the wide range of responsibilities of STUCO. Marcus Hawkes, Melissa Dannefer, Courtney Hughes, Tricia Traub, Joshua Hutton, and Jessica Lang were part of this important crew. Photo: Boutz

■ WE GO TOGETHER LIKE . . .

Drama Team & Unspoken Message

Sharing different forms of worship

"I hope to allow people to be able to worship, be touched by God, or see who God is through our performances."

-Andrea Harris

"It was really cool getting to know kids and sharing what God has done in my life recently."

-Christy Lampe

Q: What message do you hope to give to those for whom you perform?

"Our goal is to lead people into the presence of God through worship. I hope others will be encouraged by our message and be open to a new form of worship."

- Harmony Longenecker

"Drama Team has helped me get over being afraid in front of people and has helped me to see how I can share the gospel in many different ways."

- Natalie Harvey

Prison Ministry and Get Hot For God

Students lead ministries experience.

"I liked working with the youth at the various lock-ins where Get Hot For God helped."

- Becky Tuttle

"Prison ministry has proven to me that there is a spiritual battle that is being waged for the lives of men and women. (In prisons the battle lines are drawn ever so clearly.)"

- Rusty Thornley

Q: How has your life been impacted by participating in these ministries?

"I learned that God is using Get Hot For God in ways that I did not think were possible. If we are willing to do what God wants, we can accomplish amazing things."

- Nathan King

"Prison Ministry has helped me to change my view on inmates. These men are just like we are; they've just made wrong decisions along the way."

- Heather Malloy

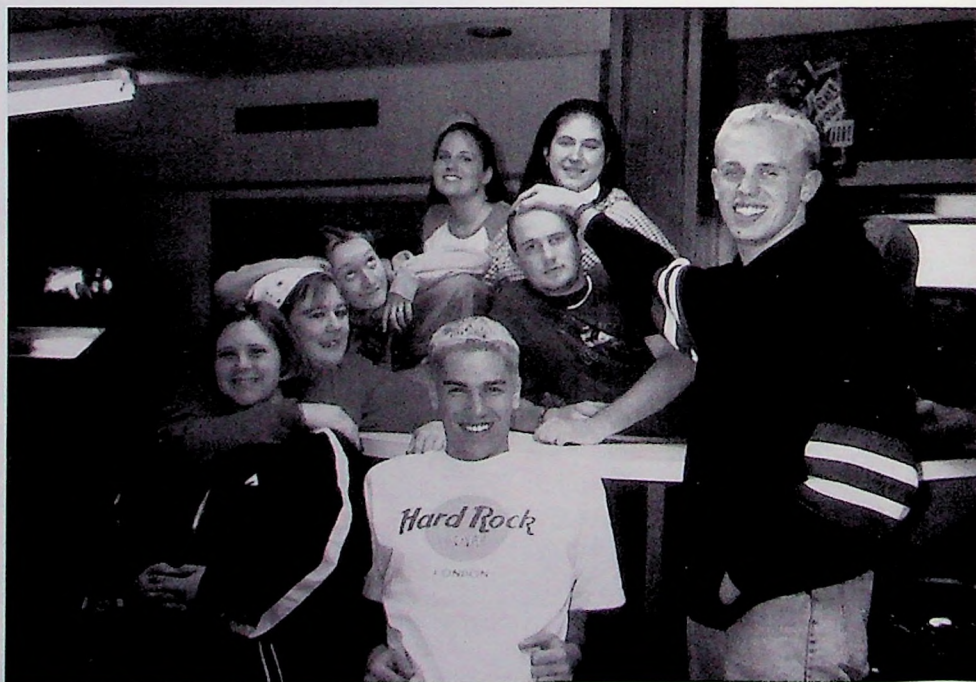

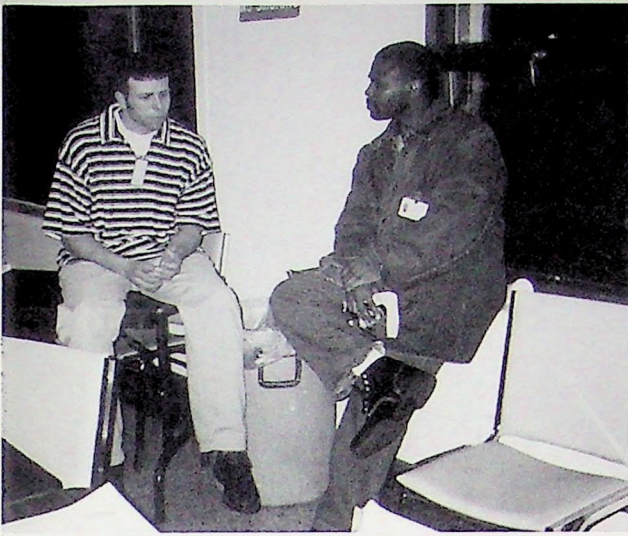

■ LOOK AT ALL THOSE KIDS!

■ GHFG LEADERSHIP

Rebecca Phelps, Becky Tuttle, Evie Krenzin, Stacey Brown, Ralene Lonas, William Jenkin, Nathan King, and Brian Preston.

■ BROTHERS IN CHRIST

Building relationships with prisoners, as Brian Brunson is doing with this inmate, is a vital step in helping them know Christ better.

■ ON A ROMAN ROAD

The Apostle Paul spent many years walking the roads of Rome building his faith and sharing it with others. Get Hot for God members spent a weekend camping, hiking and studying scriptures in hopes of understanding Paul's writings in a new way. Photo: Nathan King

■ TOO MUCH TO HANDLE?

Trying to keep things under control, Jeremy Jacobs monitors a room of young boys watching a movie at a lock-in. GHFG provides churches with staffing and expertise for youth events like this one.

■ PREPARING FOR MINISTRY

Before going in to visit with prisoners Terry Thorson and Megan Oberbeck prepare their hearts and minds for the time of ministry ahead of them.

■ THE ANGELS REJOICE!

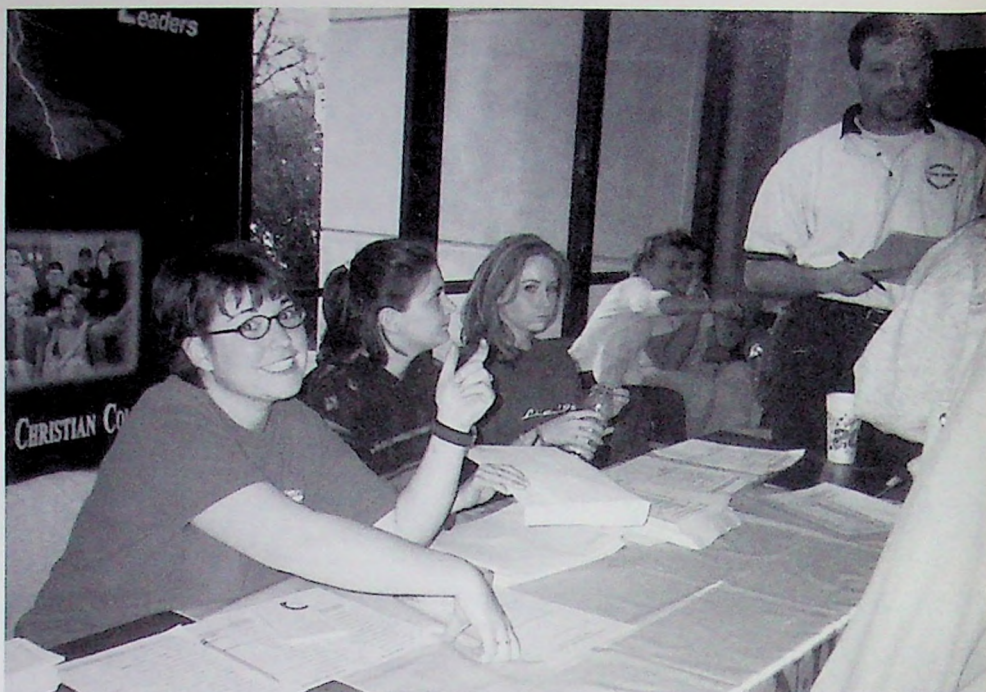

"Don't you know that all of us who were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death? We were therefore buried with him through baptism unto death in order that just as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, we too may live a new life." (New International Version)

■ PULLING OFF A BIG ONE

Registering visitors for the annual Bible Bowl Tournament, Ad-Team members Jessica Lang, Gina Aufdengarten, Jessica Burch, and Scott Jenkins stand prepared for the long day ahead.

■ WHAT A PHONE BILL!

Hundreds of potential students from all over the country get their first contact with an MCC student through members of the Tele-Team like Heidi Post. Photo: Beddow

Admissions

Many strive to promote MCC

"I have seen other camp teams in the past and wanted to do it because I love being with young people."

- Nick Pannone

"The best part is watching the Ad-Team members interact with visiting students. It's amazing to see God at work developing and revealing gifts within each member."

- Jeff Davis

Q: What will you take away from your experience with the Admissions Department?

"I'm excited about the learning, the relationships, stretching myself, and being challenged this summer on Camp Team. I also want to see the youth grow in their walk with the Lord."

- Stacy Porter

"I've had a great opportunity to work with kids of all ages. Interacting with them and seeing them grow has been the greatest part about Ad Team."

- Jenny Morse

■ TO THE ENDS OF THE EARTH
Matt McFarren, Tara Crotts, Meghan Hughes, and Brad Lenhardt are prepared to go anywhere to share the love of Christ, and a bit of MCC with everyone.

Stacy Porter and Myra Stewart practice stepping up and taking charge in preparation for the challenges of leadership ahead.

Camp Teams

■ READY, WILLING, AND ABLE
Nick Pannone, Jenny Morse, Jeremiah Holcomb, and Constance Pearce stand tall, ready to take whatever is thrown at them.

■ A WARM WELCOME
Greeting visitors with a smile, Erika Pritchett meets potential students and their families as they visit the campus during special events. Photo: Beddow

■ READY TO HELP
Though it is early on a Saturday morning, Renee Seek and Rachel Burrows sit on the floor in Coffin Hall waiting to be assigned a Bible Bowl Team to host.

■ EYES ON THE PRIZE

As the graduation ceremony begins, Scott Jenkins thinks back on what he has learned in his management courses that will be valuable to him as the new director of the Admissions Department. Photo: Boutz

■ ALL THINGS ARE POSSIBLE

With God's help, others' encouragement, and of course hard work and determination, all things are possible, explains Carmen Kasl at the Alumni Banquet held to honor new graduates. Photo: Beddow

■ THE ROAD AHEAD

■ CONGRATULATIONS!

■ WE FINALLY MADE IT!

After years of hard work and dedication, Debbie Klutz, Anita Alford, and Phyllis Webster wait anxiously for the graduation ceremony to begin. Photo: Boutz

Graduation

A time to think back and plan ahead.

"Earning this degree was different from my other degrees. Being in a cohort of the same students for 18 months meant that we worked together, learned from one another, and supported one another."

- Terry Pritchett

"Because of my senior year courses I feel prepared to continue to learn. I am excited that I will be one of the church leaders who will develop new ways to do ministry."

- Jessie Ryan

"I am glad to be done, but I will miss MCC. This is where I grew up; Sarah and I established a home here. But I am looking forward to ministry where every day I know I will be working with people."

-Scott Plauche'

■ LOOKING BACK, FOCUSED AHEAD

Though some see graduation as a finish line, Tom Marks takes his diploma from Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Lyle Jones, knowing that it is really an opportunity to continue ministry in God's kingdom. Photo: Boutz

■ SMILES ALL AROUND

After pushing her way through the crowd of proud friends and family, Christie Rainer gets a chance to laugh with her fiancé, Nate Bascue. Photo: Boutz

■ A GRADUATION TREAT

■ PICTURE TIME!

Yearbook

Capturing a year of memories.

I enjoyed exploring and learning a different form of art. I especially enjoyed designing the title page.

- Amber Puckett

I enjoy working along side students who give so much energy and time to create a book that will be used for decades.

- Virginia Beddow

Q: What will you remember most about being on the 2000 Vision Yearbook Staff?

I liked working together with others. I also liked being able to look at all the pictures and being able to work on the business side of yearbook.

- Natalie Studebaker

I enjoyed learning about all the different organizations and activities at Manhattan Christian College.

CONGRATULATIONS, SPENCE!

FOR GOD DID NOT GIVE US A SPIRIT OF
TIMIDITY, BUT A SPIRIT OF POWER, OF LOVE
AND OF SELF-DISCIPLINE.

II TIMOTHY 1:7 (N.I.V.)

LOVE - DAD, MOM, RENÉE,
NIKKI, & MELANIE

Bryan and Melissa Boutz
July 22, 2000

*Love is patient, love is kind.
It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes,
always perseveres. Love never fails.*
